THE McDONOUGH BEQUEST.

The New Orleans papers continue to devote a large portion of their columns to speculations and facts relative to the will of Mr. McDonough. The Courier says:

"It is said that the heirs of the late John McDonough, at the time of writing his will, consulted the most distinguished and learned counsel in our city, as to the legality of every clause of it. This we have from a lawyer who was the legal and confidential advisor of Mr. McDonough. The parties, therefore, contesting the will, are apt to have an uphill business of it."

Pothamous Grubbeur.—However close and parsimonious Mr. McDonough was during his life, he appears to have been alive to pothamous glory and ostentation, for, in all his dispositions in reference to the establishment of charitable institutions, he provided that the edifices shall be of elegant and solid character, "as they are intended to last for ages." Now, it is well known that, during his long life, Mr. McDonough was never known to build a decent house.

Most of the houses erected by him are miserable rookeries, in which it is dangerous to reside. They were built by his own slaves, clumsy mechanics, but, looking to the greatness and grandeur beyond the grave, Mr. McDonough had purchased some years ago the costly and elegant building of the Union Bank, at the corner of Royal and Custom-house streets, which he designed as the office to be occupied by the executors and commissioners of his estate. He left directions to that effect in his memorandum to his executors. This building was selected by Mr. McDonough on account of its durable character, being built of granite, as his views looked to permanence and perpetuity. When asked if he would sell it, his reply was, "it is a consecrated building, and cannot be disposed of."

The New Orleans Delta says: "The principle executor, Mr. Christian Roselius, has been the lawyer and counsellor for Mr. McDonough for twenty years, serving him with great ability and fidelity. Frequently, when Mr. Roselius would complain to Mr. McDonough of the small fees attained him for his services, the rich old man would reply by hinting that he would remember him in his will. This remembrance consisted in making him executor, with some fifteen others, with the prospect of having all the work to do, and even if commissions are allowed, of receiving but a small sum."

The Widow.—The Boston Post is responsible for the following: Is there any character in life so interesting as a young and beautiful widow? Not a bit, coquettish one, who, even amid her sorrows has an eye to future wedded happiness with another, but one of a genuine heart, wedded to her husband's urn, pensive, but not sad; her grief softened to a placidity.

"Sister, steadfast and serene." I met one of this fashion last week. Her sorrows had served only to soften her charms, as a gloomy, melancholy picture. Her brilliant eyes, which I have oft seen dance for joy, had lost none of their power, but they were more subdued, they seemed to be looking beyond the grave, longing to join her dead lord in one eternal bliss of wedded love?

"When your husband died," said I, "earth lost a bright ornament, but heaven gained a saint." A tear of sorrow stung in the widow's eye, but a gleam of religious hope and resignation melted it away. "I need not tell you," continued I, "that, search the wide world you can not find his fellow—you already know that well."

The fair bereaved one clasped my hand convulsively. I had touched the right cord—nature burst forth—a very torrent of tears gushed from her eyes—like unto her earthquake heaved her breast—even the "counterfeit presentment," of Nobe, upon her came so seemly to catch the "self infection," and faint alabaster tears and in sweet and broken accents the beautiful mourner thus sobbed out—"I'll tell I do!"

It is stated that an improved system of telegraphing has recently been introduced in England. By it, a person wishing to send a message goes to the telegraph office and writes the words himself, the instrument being so simplified that any one can operate upon it.

At the other end of the line, when the message is about to be sent, a sheet of paper, chemically prepared, is folded, put into an envelope, sealed and then placed in the instrument. The message sent, by the operation, printed in plain letters inside of the sealed envelope, and thus secured its contents are known only to the person sending the message and the one who receives it—instead of as now, being also known to the operators.

The patent has been brought up in England by the Telegraph monopoly there.

Louisville, Nov. 15.—Col. R. M. Johnson ("Old Tecumseh") died at his residence at 10 o'clock this morning.

BY AUTHORITY

PUBLIC ACTS.

Passed during the first session of the Thirty-first Congress.

AN ACT for the relief of Elijah C. Brown.

(Sec. 1.) Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the name of Elijah C. Brown, is solder in the service of the United States during the war in Florida, be placed on the roll of invalid pensioners, at the rate of eight dollars a month, commencing the first of January, eighteen hundred and forty-six, to continue during his natural life.

Approved August 17, 1850.

AN ACT for the further relief of John Mitchell.

(Sec. 1.) Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the pension allowed to John Mitchell, by the act for his relief, approved the 29th day of May, one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight, be increased, and that he be paid, semi-annually, from and after the fifteenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, at the rate of twenty dollars per month, during his life; and the Secretary of War hereby required to make said payment accordingly.

The Union was originally created for many purposes. One was to pay off the national debt; another was to secure the proceeds of the public funds for the payment of that debt. There were yet others to make us one people, and to give us peace at home and respectability abroad. But it will be found by those who investigate the matter, that the main purpose for the Union was formed, was to aid and protect trade and commerce. Under the old confederation

Hon. Daniel Webster is present at Jenny Lind's concert tonight, which is fully and fashionably attended. The excitement before her is on the increase. Thursday and Friday are her last nights in this city.

Approved August 30, 1850.

AN ACT for the relief of Allo-lah and his legal representatives and their grantees.

Whereas, in the survey and location of the section of land granted to Allo-lah, by the twelfth article of the treaty concluded on the Works of the Wabash, Indiana, on the sixth November, A. D. eighteen hundred and thirty-eight, and ratified February eighth, eighteen hundred and thirty-nine, between the United States and the Miami tribe of Indians, a mistake was made whereby the same was located below and adjoining the section granted to Mais-eld-gong Mi-yuh, and on the same creek, and not above, as required by the provisions of said treaty; and whereas, since the erroneous location of said reservation, the section described in said treaty has been sold and conveyed to bona fide purchasers by the United States; and whereas, since the death of Allo-lah, his legal heirs have sold and conveyed their interest in said reservation to Colte-se-pawn and his heirs.

(Sec. 1.) Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the title of the lawful heirs of Colte-se-pawn in aid to the reserve situated in township twenty-seven, north of range seven east of the second principal meridian, Indiana, surveyed and designated as survey number twenty-one, containing six hundred and forty acres, according to the map of Indian grants certified by the Surveyor General on the second of September, A. D. eighteen hundred and forty, be confirmed as fully and effectually as if the same had been originally reserved to Allo-lah by the treaty above recited; and that upon the surrender of the patent hereinafter issued to the said Allo-lah, another patent be issued thereto to Colte-se-pawn and to his heirs: Provided, however, That the said land remain subject to such contracts and liabilities as may have lawfully accrued against and upon the same during the life-time of the said Colte-se-pawn.

[This depot was one of the largest in the United States.]

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 19.—The depot of the Michigan central rail road, at this place, was destroyed by fire last evening. The amount of property consumed was large.

[This depot was one of the largest in the United States.]

12 o'clock. The loss by the burning of the rail road depot last evening is about $100,000 $40,000 of which falls upon the railroad company and the remainder upon those who had wheat, flour and other property stored in the building.

About 40 tons of goods in transit were consumed.

The depot was 850 feet in length and 60 feet wide.

It is thought it can be built in sixty days.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—A letter has been received at the Navy Department, dated aboard the U. S. flag ship Plymouth, which says she will arrive at Norfolk between the 1st and 20th of January.

The result of the Nashville convention is awaited here with great satisfaction.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 10th.

This morning, about 1 o'clock, a fire broke out in the extensive foundry of Cameron, McDermott & Co., situated on Hazel street, near the Union wharves, which, with its contents, and a large wooden store-house and other buildings, was entirely destroyed. The loss on the foundry is estimated at $40,000, but $3,000 of which were covered by insurance.

An extensive conflagration was at one time apprehended, owing to the want of water, which for a time paralyzed all efforts to check the flames.

There was fortunately no wind, or the shipping in the Union docky would have been consumed.

New Faunio.—A patent has been taken out in England for a wearing fabric composed entirely of fur. It is adapted to all purposes, either for gentlemen or ladies. The article is lighter, softer, finer and warmer than any other material ever worn as covering to the human body. It is the perfected ideal of cloth. The softest satin is harsh to the touch, and the finest lamb's wool coarse, compared with this fabric. It is made into cloth composed wholly of fur, and part silk and part fur.

FEMALE Proceress.—Eight young ladies have been awarded diplomas, at the Oberlin College Ohio. One of them was "an colored young lady." One of the ladies who has finished the theological course intends to devote herself to preach

United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury be and is hereby authorized and directed, to grant a register to the barque J. P. Fulton, Junr., owned by Mr. Benson, an American citizen, residing in the city of New York: Provided, It shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Treasury, that the aforesaid barque J. P. Fulton, Junr., is an American built vessel, formerly owned by the said John Benson, and conveyed by him to foreign owners under the name of Bogotia; but subsequently re-transferred to him, the terms of the sale aforesaid, not having been completed with.

Approved September 9, 1850.

AN ACT for the relief of Winthrop S. Harding.

(Sec. 1.) Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the notes or bonds against Benjamin Rush Gant, be credited with the sum of two thousand one hundred and ten dollars, being the amount of money received by the United States belonging to said Gant, and which should be allowed him on said judgment.

(Sec. 2.) And be it further enacted, That said Harding be exempted from the payment of interest on the notes executed by him in favor of the United States for the balance due by him to said surety of said Benjamin Rush Gant: Provided, said notes be punctually paid.

Approved September 16, 1850.

AN ACT for the relief of Elijah C. Brown.

The affinity between the substances which con-port from this vital envelope, is very close.

All disease of the hair originates in the skin of the head; if the pores of the scalp are clogged, or if the blood and other fluids do not circulate freely result is scurf, dandruff, shedding of the hair, gray-

CAUTION.

THE REMARKABLE SANATIVE POWERS OF
DR. S. P. TOWNSEND'S
COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPEARILLA,

Have induced numerous attempts to counteract it, and make fraudulent use of Dr. Townsend's name to secure the sale of SPURIOUS articles.

These counterfeits and imitations only PROVE NO VALUE of the ORIGINAL; and no HIGHER COMPETITION could be paid to Dr. S. P. Townsend's Extract of Sarsaparilla, than the laborious efforts that have been made by many to get up SOMETHING LIKE IT. As to the DISHONEST ATTEMPTS, that have been made so to use, Dr. Townsend's NAME to create CONFUSION in the public mind, in reference to the GENUINE ARTICLE, we publish below A CARD OF ALL THE Principal Wholesale Druggists

IN NEW YORK.

We, the Undersigned,
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS

IN THE

CITY OF NEW YORK,

do hold Dr. S. P. Townsend's EXTRACT OF SARSAPEARILLA, for several years, and consider it the ORIGINAL and GENUINE.

Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla, and that it was the first introduced to public notice under that name.
